DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

The prior art documents submitted by applicants have been considered.

Specification

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

3. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it should be one paragraph on a single sheet. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 1774

5. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

More specifically, in claim 1, the language of "cord-like member", "strip-like base member" and "strip-like expanded graphite" renders this claim vague and indefinite because the presence of the word "like" results in ambiguity in the determination of what said members are. Also, the language of "said gland packing material is configured by a cord-like member" and "reinforcing member configured by a fibrous material" is vague. It is not clear what constitutes "configured" or how the packing material (or reinforcing member) is "configured" by the cord-like member (or a fibrous material). Accordingly, the metes and bounds for which patent protection is being sought are not clear.

Claim 2 is indefinite for the reasons stated above. Also, it is not clear where the members (4a) and (4b) are placed because it is not clear what the "inner side" and "outer side" refer to. Moreover, the general structural arrangement set forth in this claim is not clear and therefore is indefinite.

Claim 3 is vague and indefinite for reasons stated above in claims 1 and 2.

Claim 4 is vague and indefinite for reasons stated above in claims 1 and 2.

Claims 5-7 are vague and indefinite for reasons stated above in claims 1 and 2.

Claim 8 is vague and indefinite for reasons stated above in claims 1 and 2, whereby language such as "sheet-like shape" and "fibrous material sheet is configured by a fiber-opened sheet" are also indefinite for reasons stated previously.

Claim 9 is vague and indefinite for reasons stated above.

Art Unit: 1774

Claim 10 is vague and indefinite for reasons stated above. In addition, the language of "fibrous material is configured" is indefinite for reasons previously stated. Also, carbon fibers are brittle and tough, thus this Markush grouping contains overlapping subject matter and is not clearly defined.

Claim 11 is vague and indefinite for reasons previously stated, and the language of "brittle fibers are configured by" is indefinite for reasons previously stated.

Claim 12 is vague and indefinite for the reasons stated above, and the language of "tough fibers are configured by" is indefinite also for reasons previously stated.

6. Claim 13 provides for the use of gland packing, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Applicants have not clearly defined that which they regard as their invention for examination purposes and patent protection. Accordingly the metes and bounds for which patent protection is being sought are not clear.

No claims are allowed.
